TYPEFACE

Pitch

Pitch is the primary body copy typeface. It is available in both serif and sans.

This is a mono style typeface. Word spacing will appear open by default. Adjust spacing as needed to achieve balance and readability.

Use Pitch for descriptive and destination copy, including Little Italy, Food Hall, and San Diego within the logotype lockup. It also works well for body and supporting text.

Balance Pitch with Proxima. Use the contrast between the two to create clear hierarchy and visual interest.

Note:
Word spacing with monospace fonts is normally open. It is part of the look.
Do not change unless the aesthetic demands.

TYPEFACE

Proxima

Proxima is the preferred typeface for display, headlines, and body copy.

Contempora Script

Contempora Script works as a display typeface for select moments.

Adjust kerning carefully to keep letter spacing tight and cohesive. The script should feel fast, energetic, and expressive.
